RATIONALE & OBJECTIVES OF THE SEMINAR

The Interactive Games Against Drug is an interactive activities provide enjoyment for youth as well as numerous benefits in terms of developing a youth's well-being, school skills and social/behavioral skills. Even more exciting is that playing is not only a fun activity, but it is a great source of learning especially when the play activity or game incorporates educational components and outcomes.

The activity aims to divert the attention of the youth into productive and wholesome activities instead of using drugs and substances.
