Dear Mr. Cabral,

We are pleased to inform you that the Economic and Financial Literacy Seminar-Workshop for Basic Education Teachers rescheduled on June 23, 2018, Saturday, will push through. The venue will be at Faber Hall Room 101, Ateneo de Manila University. This is jointly being organized by the National Economic and Development Authority (NEDA), the Department of Economics of the Ateneo de Manila University and the Philippine Economic Society (PES).

We would like to invite master teachers and regular teachers who are currently teaching or have taught high school Economics classes (Grade 9 and 12). Those expected to teach the subject within the school year may also attend. Below is the proposed program flow:

8:15 am	Registration
8:45	Welcome message and Introduction of Participants
9:15	Session 1: NEDA presentation on the current macroeconomic situation and Ambisyon 2040
10:15	Open Forum
10:30	Coffee break
10:45	Session 2: The Teaching and Practice of Economics
11:30	Open Forum
11:45	About the Philippine Economic Society and Induction of New Members
12:00 pm	Lunch
1:00	Break out session: Small group discussion – SWOT for Economics teachers
2:00	Plenary session
2:30	Awarding of certificates
3:00 pm	End of program

We are sending hard and soft copies of the participant registration form to your office. May we request that these invitations be distributed to the NCR public high school schools? Participation is free but on a first-come-first-served basis. For questions, feel free to email me cbautista@ateneo.edu, cc: our assistant Ms. Dianne Guevarra, mguevarra@ateneo.edu. Our office landline is 426-5661 or 426-6001 local 5220-5222.

Sincerely,

Cristina M. Bautista, Ph.D.
