to me, Ben, Ilene, Jomar

Good afternoon Dr. Torreampo,

A group of UnionBankers from Enterprise Risk Management who are also Microsoft Education Ambassadors would like to conduct training for faculty members from Schools Division Office-Mariquina. We learned that there will be in-service training this coming last week of May and would like to propose a free training.

This free training is called Teaching with Technology, as indicated in the endorsement letter from Microsoft (see attached file), this is a training on the proper use of technology for teaching and learning that can help teachers become more effective, efficient, and engaged with their students.

We are currently communicating with several elementary and high school principals from Schools Division Office-Mariquina, if they can include us as resource persons in their in-service training. We will furnish formal letter to your office early next week.

Thank you and we look forward to be of service to the public school teachers of Mariquina City through the conduct of training on Teaching with Technology.

Re: Faculty Training on Teaching with Technology

Microsoft is committed to education and believes that teachers are key in transforming the lives of our students and the future of our nation. Believing that the best educators never stop educating themselves, Microsoft provides a wide array of professional development opportunities through our program called The Microsoft Educator Community: from training seminars, to education communities, from the latest technologies to showcasing innovative teaching methods.

Having said that, Microsoft Philippines is offering a FREE training for your faculty members on Teaching with Technology, a training on the proper use of technology for teaching and learning, helping your teachers become more effective, efficient, and engaged with their students.

The Training will be led facilitated by our Microsoft Education Ambassador, Ms. Lorelie D. Santos.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact us at msmeaph@microsoft.com.

Thank you for your time and we look forward to having you and your school become part of our journey in transforming education in the Philippines.
