Dear Mr. Torrecampo:

Greetings from the University of Asia and the Pacific - School of Education and Human Development (UA&P-SED!)

We are pleased to invite all professional teachers to our continuing professional development program on Differentiated Instruction and Formative Assessment in Teaching K to 12. This will be held on October 19 and 26, 2019 (Saturday) at the Telengtan Lecture Hall of University of Asia and the Pacific.

This 2-day seminar workshop is geared to augment teachers’ knowledge and skills in two of the most essential elements of pedagogy: differentiated instruction and formative assessment. The development of the learner can be fully realized if the teacher is equipped with the essential competencies to facilitate optimum learning, and that is where the integration of differentiated instruction and formative assessment comes in. These elements allow the teacher to be more responsive to the varying cognitive and noncognitive needs of learners, thereby giving primacy to the quality of instruction provided in the classroom.

The learning investment fee is PhP 3,000, inclusive of certificate of participation, seminar kits, and meals (lunch and AM and PM snacks). Participants will be awarded 9 CPD units upon completion of the seminar (PRC Accreditation Number: 2010-010-4310).

To register, participants may visit the link https://forms.gle/WpK1rDwQRs8ujz7bTm6 which is also posted in our official Facebook page. Pre-registration is required.

For more information, you may contact us through Mrs. Honeylet Joy B. Reyes at (632) 634-2828 or 637-0912 local 271. You may also email us at sed@uap.asia or visit our Facebook page https://www.facebook.com/uapced/?ref=bookmarks for more updates.

Thank you very much.

Very truly yours,
